

ABSTRACT

A wood-like molded product which is permitted to have wood-like features without using a natural wood material, and is usable as a bottle case to keep a wine bottle or the like inserted therein, and the like. The wood-like molded product includes: a cylindrical main body (2) which is made of a mixed material containing: fine cellulose powder particles (N) obtained from a wood material; and resin (P), and permits a bottle to be inserted thereinto; and a supporting member (3) provided in the cylindrical main body, to support a bottom face of the bottle inserted in the cylindrical main body.